I. INTRODUCTION

2 Defendants Toyota Motor Corporation and Toyota Motor Sales, U.S.A., Inc.
3 (collectively, “Toyota”) support Plaintiffs’ request that this Court find that the class 4 action settlement is “fair, reasonable and adequate,” and finally approve it, pursuant 5 to Rule 23, as amended.¹ After extensive discovery and motion practice and protracted 6 litigation over several years, the Parties opened up settlement negotiations that lasted 7 approximately 12 months that required significant assistance from Settlement 8 Special Master Juneau. While no settlement completely satisfies either party, this 9 Settlement provides significant relief to the Class Members who also happen to be 10 Toyota’s customers.

11 The settlement provides significant and immediate benefits to the Class, 12 including a $20 million non-reversionary fund to reimburse Class Members for 13 certain out-of-pocket expenses and a 20-year Customer Confidence Program.² This 14 settlement should be granted final approval as it more than satisfies the requirements 15 in Rule 23(e), as amended, the eight factors set forth in Staton v. Boeing Corp., 327
16 F.3d 938, 952 (9th Cir. 2008), and “the settlement is not the product of collusion 17 among the negotiating parties” as required in In re Bluetooth Headset Prod. Liab.
18 Litig. (“Bluetooth”), 654 F.3d 935, 946 (9th Cir. 2011).

19 In addition to these substantial benefits, there is a “strong judicial policy 20 favor[ing] settlement, particularly where complex class action litigation is 21 concerned.” Etter v. Thetford Corp., No. CV1406759JLSRNBX, 2016 WL

22
23 ¹ The essential terms of the settlement are summarized in this Memorandum of 24 Points and Authorities in Support of Plaintiffs’ Motion for Entry of an Order 25 Granting Preliminary Approval of Class Action Settlement and Issuance of 26 Related Orders. Dkt. No. 219. The Settlement Agreement, Dkt. No. 219-2, 27 along with all exhibits and addenda sets forth in greater detail the rights and 28 obligations of the Parties. If there is any conflict between this Memorandum and the Settlement Agreement, the Settlement Agreement governs.

² All capitalized terms used in this Memorandum shall have the meanings assigned in the Settlement Agreement, unless otherwise defined herein.

1 11745096, at *9 (C.D. Cal. Oct. 24, 2016) (J. Staton) (citing Linney v. Cellular 2 Alaska P'ship, 151 F.3d 1234, 1238 (9th Cir. 1998)). Accordingly, the Court should 3 finally approve the settlement and dismiss the action.³

4 BACKGROUND

5 A. Plaintiffs' Allegations and Claims and the Parties' Motion Practice

6 This action alleges violations of consumer protection statutes and breaches of 7 warranties, among other claims, arising out of allegedly defective inverters of certain 8 Prius vehicles. The Parties have filed multiple motions on a wide range of topics 9 and, for example, the Court denied as moot the Motion for Class Certification, Dkt.
10 Nos. 162, 165, and the Motion for Summary Judgment, Dkt. No. 196.

11 B. Discovery, Confirmatory Discovery and Settlement Negotiations

12 Plaintiffs' Counsel discussed in their Memorandum of Points and Authorities 13 in Support of Preliminary Approval their extensive investigation regarding the facts 14 and the law relevant to the claims and defenses in this case, including the formal and 15 confirmatory discovery exchanged between the Parties. Dkt. No. 219.

16 The Parties engaged in active litigation for over two years when they began 17 conducting settlement negotiations in or around June 2020 (while simultaneously 18 continuing to litigate the case). During that time, more than 30 video conferences 19 between Class Counsel and Toyota's counsel occurred, many of which included the 20 Court-approved Settlement Special Master Patrick Juneau, and numerous phone calls 21 and emails made and sent on at least a weekly, and even daily, basis. There was also 22 an extensive mediation involving Settlement Special Master Juneau on attorneys' 23

24
25 ³ As was required by the Preliminary Approval Order, on November 15, 2022, the 26 Settlement Notice Administrator filed the list of opt-outs, the results of the 27 dissemination of the notice and all objections with the Court. Also pursuant to 28 the Preliminary Approval Order, the Parties will file supplemental memoranda of law - on November 30, 2022 - in further support of the settlement which will discuss the results of Notice and will respond to the objections and opt-outs.

1 fees and service awards, which only occurred after the material terms of the 2 settlement had already been agreed upon.

3 C. Settlement Terms

4 Under the proposed settlement, Toyota has agreed to provide the following 5 relief, pursuant to certain terms and conditions: (1) a non-reversionary Qualified 6 Settlement Fund, initially funded with $20 million dollars which will be used for 7 reimbursement of certain out-of-pocket expenses not previously reimbursed by 8 Toyota related to a Subject Vehicle’s IPM or Inverter, with any balance remaining 9 after all valid and timely out-of-pocket expenses have been paid, either being 10 redistributed to certain Class Members by way of Redistribution Checks, or if 11 administratively unfeasible, going towards a cy pres; (2) a Customer Confidence 12 Program, which provides for certain repairs to and/or replacement of the IPM and/or 13 Inverter at no cost to Class Members or subsequent owners/transferees of the Subject 14 Vehicles for 20 years from the date the Subject Vehicle was first put into use; and 15 (3) free loaner vehicles and/or towing of the Subject Vehicle in certain situations and 16 as part of the Customer Confidence Program. See Settlement Agreement, at § III.

17 Additional details on the Settlement Terms, including the relief, are included 18 in the Settlement Agreement and Plaintiffs’ brief in support of preliminary approval.
19 See generally Settlement Agreement (Dkt. No. 219-2) and Plaintiffs’ Memorandum 20 of Points and Authorities (Dkt. No. 219).

21 II. THE COURT PRELIMINARILY APPROVED THE SETTLEMENT

22 In the Court’s 31-page order granting the motion for preliminary approval of 23 the class settlement, Dkt. No. 233 (“Preliminary Approval Order”), which vetted the 24 settlement based on the requirements specified in Rule 23(e), the Court found that 25 “[i]n evaluating all applicable factors..., the Court finds that the proposed settlement 26 should be preliminarily approved.” See Preliminary Approval Order, at p. 16. The 27 Court evaluated the “[s]trength of Plaintiffs’ case and risk, expense, complexity, and 28 duration of further litigation,” the “amount offered in settlement,” “[e]xtent of 1 discovery proceedings and stage of the proceedings,” “[e]xperience and views of 2 counsel,” and “[a]rm’s length negotiation free from collusion” and found that each 3 one of these factors weighed in favor of preliminary approval. Id. at pp. 16-19.

4 The Court also noted: “[a]s the proposed Class Notice distribution program 5 includes both first-class Direct Mail Notice and Publication Notice, in addition to 6 Publication and Online Display/Banner Advertising and Social Media Notices, the 7 Court finds the proposed Class Notice Plan satisfies due process and Rule 23’s 8 requirements.” Id. at p. 20. The Settlement Notice Administrator filed the results of 9 Notice, a list of the opt-outs, and the objections received on November 30, 2022. The 10 results of the dissemination of the notice and the class’s reaction to the settlement are 11 discussed in detail in Toyota’s supplemental memoranda of law in support of final 12 approval.

13 LEGAL STANDARD

14 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23, as amended, sets forth that “the claims, 15 issues, or defenses of a certified class may be settled . . . only with the court’s 16 approval.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e). “Whether to approve a class action settlement is 17 ‘committed to the sound discretion of the trial judge[,]’ who must examine the 18 settlement for ‘overall fairness.’” Chambers, et al. v. Whirlpool Corp., et al., No.
19 11-cv-1733 (FMO)(JCG), 2016 WL 5922456, *3 (C.D. Cal. Oct. 11, 2016) (citing 20 Class Plaintiffs v. City of Seattle, 955 F.2d 1268, 1276 (9th Cir. 1992), cert. denied, 21 506 U.S. 953 (1992); Hanlon v. Chrysler Corp., 150 F.3d 1011, 1026 (9th Cir.
22 1998)).

23 Before approving a class-action settlement, Rule 23 of the Federal Rules of 24 Civil Procedure requires the Court to determine whether the proposed settlement is 25 “fair, reasonable, and adequate.” Kearney, et al. v. Hyundai Motor Am., No. SACV 26 09-1298-JST (MLGx), 2013 WL 3287996, *4 (C.D. Cal. June 28, 2013) (J. Staton)
27 (citing Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e)(2)). To determine whether a settlement agreement meets 28

1 these standards, a district court must consider of the factors set out by Staton. Id.
2 (citing Staton v. Boeing Corp., 327 F.3d 938, 959 (9th Cir. 2008)).

3 “In addition to these factors, where ‘a settlement agreement is negotiated prior 4 to formal class certification,’ the Court must also satisfy itself that ‘the settlement is 5 not the product of collusion among the negotiating parties.’” Id. (citing Bluetooth , 6 654 F.3d at 946-47 (internal citation and quotations omitted)). “Accordingly, the 7 Court must look for explicit collusion and ‘more subtle signs that class counsel have 8 allowed pursuit of their own self-interests and that of certain class members to infect 9 the negotiations.’” Id. (citing Bluetooth, 654 F.3d at 947).

10 ARGUMENT

11 A. This Court Has Jurisdiction to Consider and Rule on the Settlement

12 1. The Court Has Original Jurisdiction Over All Claims

13 This Court has original jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(2) because 14 Plaintiffs’ Amended Consolidated Master Complaint alleges that the amount in 15 controversy in this class action exceeds $5,000,000 dollars, exclusive of interest and 16 costs; the proposed Class includes more than 100 members, more than one of whom 17 reside in a state other than California; and Toyota has purposefully availed itself of 18 the privilege of conducting business activities within the State of California, where 19 Toyota is incorporated and where Toyota engaged in the conduct alleged in this 20 Complaint. See Docket No. 73, at ¶27; see also Vasquez v. First Student, Inc., No.
21 14-cv-06760 (ODW), 2014 WL 6837279, at *2 (C.D. Cal. Dec. 3, 2014) (noting that, 22 pursuant to 28 U.S.C.A. § 1332(d)(2), the Class Action Fairness Act provides federal 23 courts original jurisdiction over class actions in which (1) the class consists of at least 24 100 proposed members; (2) the matter in controversy is greater than $5,000,000 after 25 aggregating the claims of the proposed class members, exclusive of interest and 26 costs; and (3) any member of a class of plaintiffs is a citizen of a State different from 27 any defendant). In addition, the existence of original jurisdiction authorizes this 28 Court to exercise supplemental jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1367(a) over the

1 remaining state law claims. See 28 U.S.C. § 1367(a) (“[I]n any civil action of which 2 the district courts have original jurisdiction, the district courts shall have 3 supplemental jurisdiction over all other claims that are so related to claims in the 4 action ... that they form part of the same case or controversy under Article III.”).

5 2. The Court Has Personal Jurisdiction Over All Class Members

6 This Court has personal jurisdiction over the Plaintiffs, who are parties to this 7 class action and have agreed to serve as representatives for the Class. The Court also 8 has personal jurisdiction over absent Class Members because due-process compliant 9 notice has been provided to the Class. The court in In re Toyota Motor Corp.
10 Unintended Acceleration Mktg., Sales Practices, & Prod. Liab. Litig., No. 10-ML-11 02151 (JVS), 2013 WL 3224585, at *4 (C.D. Cal. June 17, 2013), citing to Phillips
12 Petroleum Company v. Shutts, 472 U.S. 797, 811-12 (1985), held that a court 13 properly exercises personal jurisdiction over absent, out-of-state Class members 14 where the court and the parties have safeguarded absent Class members’ right to due 15 process.

16 The extraordinary notice provided to Class Members is discussed in further 17 detail in Toyota’s Supplemental Memorandum in Support of Final Approval. The 18 notice provided to the Class, combined with the opportunity to object and appear at 19 the Fairness Hearing, fully satisfies due process in order to obtain personal 20 jurisdiction over a Rule 23(b)(3) class. See Phillips Petroleum Co., 472 U.S. at 811-21 12 (finding that the district court obtains personal jurisdiction over the absentee class 22 members by providing proper notice of the impending class action and providing 23 absentees with an opportunity to be heard or an opportunity to exclude themselves 24 from the class).

25 3. Notice Satisfied the Requirements of Rule 23(c) and (e) and Due
26 Process

27 Under Rule 23(e)(1) and 23(c)(2)(B), the Court must direct the best notice that 28 is practicable under the circumstances in a reasonable manner to all Class Members

1 who would be bound by the proposed settlement. See Beltran v. Olam Spices &
2 Vegetables, Inc., No. 11:8-CV-01676-NONE-SAB, 2021 WL 1105246, at *4 (E.D.
3 Cal. Mar. 23, 2021) (citing FED. R. CIV. P. 23(e)(1)). Here, Class Notice was 4 accomplished through a combination of Direct Mail Notice, Publication Notice, 5 notice through the settlement website, Long Form Notice, and social media notice.
6 See Settlement, Dkt. 219-2, p. 29. The Settlement Notice Administrator will file the 7 Results of the Dissemination of the Notice with the Court by November 15, 2022.
8 Preliminary Approval Order, Dkt. 167, at 30. Toyota’s discussion of the Notice 9 Program, including the results of the Notice Program, in its Supplemental Brief in 10 Support of Final Approval also filed on November 30, 2022. Id., at 31.

11 B. The Settlement Is “Fair, Reasonable, and Adequate” Under the 12 Criteria Discussed in Rule 23(e) and Applied in the Ninth Circuit

13 The claims of a certified class may be settled only with court approval, and the 14 Court may approve a settlement “only after a hearing and only on finding that it is 15 fair, reasonable, and adequate.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e)(2).⁴

16 The 2018 Committee Notes recognize that, prior to the December 1, 2018 17 amendment (the “Amendment”), each circuit had developed its own list of factors to 18 be considered in determining whether a proposed class action settlement was fair, 19 reasonable, and adequate. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e)(2), Advisory Committee Notes.
20 According to the Committee Notes, the Amendment is not intended to displace any 21 such factors, but rather to direct the parties to present the settlement to the court in 22 terms of a shorter list of core concerns by focusing on the primary procedural 23 considerations and substantive qualities that should always matter to the decision 24 whether to approve the proposal. See id.

28

⁴ Effective December 1, 2018, Rule 23(e)(2) was amended to provide that the Court may approve the Settlement only after a hearing and only on finding that it is fair, reasonable, and adequate after considering whether: (A) the class representatives and class counsel have adequately represented the class; (B) the proposal was negotiated at arm’s length; (C) the relief provided for the class is adequate, taking into account: (i) the costs, risks, and delay of trial and appeal; (ii) the effectiveness of any proposed method of distributing relief to the class, including the method of processing class-member claims; (iii) the terms of any proposed award of attorney’s fees, including timing of payment; and (iv) any agreement required to be identified under Rule 23(e)(3); and (D) the proposal treats class members equitably relative to each other.

1 When evaluating the fairness of a settlement, courts in the Ninth Circuit
2 generally weigh the Staton factors, many of which overlap with the requirements set 3 forth in the amendments to Rule 23(e)(2):

- 4 1. the strength of plaintiffs' case;
- 5 2. the risk, expense, complexity, and likely duration of further 6 litigation;
- 7 3. the risk of maintaining class action status throughout the trial;
- 8 4. the amount offered in settlement;
- 9 5. the extent of discovery completed, and the stage of the 10 proceedings;
- 11 6. the experience and views of counsel;
- 12 7. the presence of a governmental participant; and
- 13 8. the reaction of the class members to the proposed settlement.⁵

14 Staton v. Boeing Co., 327 F.3d 938 (9th Cir. 2003).

15 These factors are “by no means an exhaustive list of relevant considerations,” 16 and “[t]he relative degree of importance to be attached to any particular factor will 17 depend on the unique circumstances of each case.” Officers for Justice v. Civil Serv.
18 Comm’n, 688 F.2d 615, 625 (9th Cir. 1982); Staton, 327 F.3d at 960 (quoting Hanlon, 19 150 F.3d at 1026). “The ultimate decision by the judge involves balancing the 20 advantages and disadvantages of the proposed settlement as against the consequences 21 of going to trial or other possible but perhaps unattainable variations on the proffered 22 settlement.” National Ass’n of Chain Drug Stores v. New England Carpenters Health
23 Benefits Fund, 582 F.3d 30, 44 (1st Cir. 2009).

24 C. The Strength of Plaintiff’s Case, and the Risk, Expense, 25 Complexity, and Duration of Further Litigation.
26
27

28 ⁵ See footnote 4, supra.

1 The potential weaknesses in Plaintiffs’ case and the enormous complexity, 2 expense, and likely duration of further motion and discovery practice and a trial of 3 this litigation weigh in favor of a finding that the settlement is fair, reasonable, and 4 adequate. Adoma v. Univ. of Phoenix, Inc., 913 F. Supp. 2d. 964, 975 (E.D. Cal.
5 2012) (internal quotation marks omitted) (“In evaluating the strength of the case, a 6 court assesses “objectively the strengths and weaknesses inherent in the litigation 7 and the impact of those considerations on the parties’ decisions to reach [a settlement 8 agreement].”). If this class action were to proceed, it would undoubtedly be a costly 9 and lengthy process for all Parties. “In assessing the risk, expense, complexity, and 10 likely duration of further litigation, the court evaluates the time and cost required.”
11 Id. at 976.

12 As the Court has already seen and ruled on in several instances, this litigation 13 involves millions of Class Members and multiple legal claims and defenses. If this 14 case were to proceed as a litigation class, it would require an enormous outlay of 15 additional time, money, and energy from the Court and the Parties. The Court has 16 denied as moot the Motion for Class Certification, Dkt. Nos. 162, 165, and the 17 Motion for Summary Judgment, Dkt. No. 196. If the litigation does not settle, then 18 those motions and several other related and unfiled motions would need to be heard 19 and decided upon, which includes risk for both Parties.

20 While Plaintiffs believe they have meritorious claims, Defendants deny 21 liability and the propriety of any litigation class or classes, and it is entirely possible 22 that the Court would find against Plaintiffs. The settlement, which guarantees that 23 Class Members receive substantial recoveries, provides significant advantages over 24 “rolling the dice” and proceeding to final adjudication on the merits—after which the 25 Class might achieve nothing. See, e.g., In re Toyota Motor Corp. Unintended 26 Acceleration Mktg., Sales Practices, & Prods. Liab. Litig., No. 8:10-ML-02151, 27 2013 WL 12327929, at *14 (C.D. Cal. July 24, 2013) (approving class settlement 28

1 noting, “[s]imply put, Plaintiffs might eventually recover more with continued 2 litigation, but they also might recover nothing”).

3 “Generally, ‘unless the settlement is clearly inadequate, its acceptance and 4 approval are preferable to lengthy and expensive litigation with uncertain results.’” 5 Barbosa v Cargill Meat Sols. Corp., 297 F.R.D. 431, 446 (E.D. Cal. 2013) (citing 6 Nat’l Rural Telecomms. Coop. v. DIRECTV, Inc., 221 F.R.D. 523, 526 (C.D. Cal.
7 2004)). Moreover, settlement is encouraged in class actions where possible. See id.
8 (citing Van Bronkhorst v. Safeco Corp., 529 F.2d 943, 950 (9th Cir. 1976) (“It hardly 9 seems necessary to point out that there is an overriding public interest in settling and 10 quieting litigation. This is particularly true in class action suits which are now an ever 11 increasing burden to so many federal courts and which present serious problems of 12 management and expense.”)).

13 As such, and in contrast to this risk, uncertainty, and possible length, it is 14 beneficial to Class Members that, through this settlement, they will be able to receive 15 “immediate recovery by way of the compromise to the mere possibility of relief in 16 the future, after protracted and expensive litigation.” See Whirlpool Corp., 2016 WL 17 5922456 at *6 (citing Nat’l Rural Telecommc’ns., 221 F.R.D. at 526); Knapp v.
18 Art.com, Inc., 283 F. Supp. 3d 823, 832 (N.D. Cal. 2017) (stating the relief provided 19 by settlement is “preferable to lengthy and expensive litigation with uncertain 20 results”). Just as the Court found that this factor weighed in favor of granting 21 preliminary approval, it also weighs in favor of final approval, as the settlement 22 would avoid all of the lengthy, costly, and uncertain aspects of litigation. See also,
23 e.g., Williams v. Costco Wholesale Corp., No. 02-cv-2003, 2010 WL 2721452, at *3 24 (S.D. Cal. July 7, 2010) (“Given these risks, the Court agrees that the actual recovery 25 through settlement confers substantial benefits on the class that outweigh the 26 potential recovery through full adjudication.”); Bond v. Ferguson Enters., No. 1:09-27 cv-01662, 2011 WL 284962, at *7 (E.D. Cal. Jan. 25, 2011) (“Even if Plaintiffs were 28 to prevail, they would be required to expend considerable additional time and

1 resources, potentially outweighing any additional recovery obtained through 2 successful litigation.”).

3 D. The Risk of Maintaining Class Action Status Through Trial.

4 If the litigation were to continue, Toyota would strenuously argue that a 5 litigation class could not be certified here, and, even if a litigation class were 6 certified, Toyota would appeal the decision pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(f). The 7 risk of maintaining class action status is magnified as “nationwide class certification 8 under California law or the laws of multiple states is rare.” See Whirlpool Corp., 9 2016 WL 5922459, at *6 (citing Mazza, 666 F.3d at 585 (vacating class certification 10 order because the district court “erroneously concluded that California law could be 11 applied to the entire nationwide class”)); In re Pharm. Indus. Average Wholesale 12 Price Litig., 252 F.R.D. 83, 94 (D. Mass. 2008) (“While numerous courts have 13 talked-the-talk that grouping of multiple state laws is lawful and possible, very few 14 courts have walked the grouping walk.”)).

15 Further, if Plaintiffs were to obtain class certification of a litigation class and 16 defeat a motion for summary judgment, then trial preparation would be necessary to 17 continue to prosecute this litigation, which would be hard-fought, zealously 18 contested, time consuming, uncertain, and expensive. See Manner v. Gucci America, 19 Inc., No. 15-cv-00045 (BAS)(WVG), 2016 WL 1045961, *6 (S.D. Cal. March 16, 20 2016) (approving the settlement where continued litigation would be “expensive, 21 complex, and time consuming”); In re DJ Orthopedics, Inc. Securities Litig., No. 01-22 cv-2238, 2004 WL 1445101, *3 (S.D. Cal. June 21, 2004) (finding the settlement to 23 be “a more favorable path because the ultimate results of continued litigation are both 24 uncertain and costly”). In light of these risks and the certainty that comes with the 25 settlement relief, this factor weighs in favor of the settlement.

26 E. The Amount Offered in Settlement.

27 The settlement is fair, reasonable, and adequate, particularly when compared 28 to the significant consideration offered in this settlement. In granting preliminary

1 approval of the Settlement Agreement, the Court concluded “the proposed settlement 2 provides Class Members with substantial monetary and non-monetary benefits, 3 including: a $20-million dollar, non-reversionary, evergreen fund available to satisfy 4 all valid reimbursement claims for expenses to repair or replace an IPM or Inverter, 5 and related towing and rental car charges; if a balance remains in the fund after all 6 out-of-pocket claims have been paid, the balance shall be distributed on a pro-rata
7 basis to Class Members; and Toyota will offer all Class Members the Customer 8 Confidence Program to provide prospective coverage for repairs to and/or 9 replacement of the Inverter and/or IPM for twenty (20) years from the date of the 10 first use of the subject vehicle.” See Preliminary Approval Order, at pp. 16-17.

11 When evaluating the sufficiency of a settlement, the Court must consider the 12 settlement as a whole and not its individual components, such as the direct cash relief 13 provided through the class monetary fund. See Officers for Justice v. Civil Serv.
14 Comm’n of S.F., 688 F.2d 615, 628 (9th Cir. 1982) (“It is the complete package taken 15 as a whole, rather than the individual component parts, that must be examined for 16 overall fairness.”); see also Sebastian v. Sprint/United Management Co., No. 8:18-17 cv-00757-JLS-KES, 2019 WL 13037010 (C.D. Cal. Dec. 5, 2019) (J. Staton) (same).

18 Further, “the provisions of a class action settlement must be viewed in terms 19 of a range of probabilities, not mere possibilities.” Id. at 630. The Court’s essential 20 function is to assess “whether the settlement falls below the lowest point in the range 21 of reasonableness.” Long v. HSBC USA, Inc., No. 14 Civ. 6233, 2015 WL 5444651, 22 at *5 (S.D.N.Y. Sept 11, 2015) (citation omitted). “[T]he very essence of a settlement 23 is compromise, a yielding of absolutes and an abandoning of highest hopes.” 24 Whirlpool Corp., 2016 WL 5922456 at *6 (citing Linney v. Cellular Alaska P’ship, 25 151 F.3d 1234, 1242 (9th Cir. 1998)) (internal quotation marks omitted).
26 Considering the significant multi-faceted benefits provided to the Class Members 27 and the allegations provided in the Amended Master Class Action Complaint, this 28 factor also weighs in favor of granting final approval.

1 F. The Extent of Discovery Completed and The Stage of The
2 Proceedings

3 The settlement here should be “presumed fair” as it followed “sufficient 4 discovery and genuine arms-length negotiation.” Whirlpool Corp., 2016 WL 5 5922456 at *6 (citing Nat’l Rural Telecommc’ns., 221 F.R.D. at 528); Linney v.
6 Cellular Alaska P’ship, Case Nos. 98-cv-3008 DLJ, C-97-0203 DLJ, C-97- 0425
7 DLJ, C-97-0457 DLJ, 1997 WL 450064, *5 (N.D. Cal. July 18, 1997), aff’d, 151
8 F.3d 1234, 1234 (9th Cir. 1998) (“The involvement of experienced class action 9 counsel and the fact that the settlement agreement was reached in arm’s length 10 negotiations, after relevant discovery had taken place create a presumption that the 11 agreement is fair.”). As noted in the Preliminary Approval Order, “[t]he Parties have 12 reached a settlement at a relatively late stage of the proceedings, and the Court finds 13 that this factor favors preliminary approval.” See Dkt No. 233, at p. 17.

14 As discussed more in Plaintiffs’ Memorandum of Points and Authorities in 15 Support of Preliminary Approval, even after the settlement discussions began, the 16 Parties continued to engage in extensive formal and informal discovery, litigated 17 multiple discovery motions, and undertook rounds of briefing for the motions to 18 compel arbitration, class certification, and summary judgment. See Dkt. No. 131, 19 162, 165, and 196. Furthermore, the Parties’ negotiations lasted over a year, included 20 the production of confirmatory discovery, and involved numerous mediation sessions 21 before Settlement Special Master Patrick A. Juneau.

22 In light of these efforts, the Court previously determined that “there [wa]s no 23 doubt that the Parties have abundant information on which to make informed 24 decisions about settlement.” See Preliminary Approval Order, at p. 18.

25 As such, the Parties here clearly “entered the settlement discussions with a 26 substantial understanding of the factual and legal issues from which they could 27 advocate for their respective positions.” Whirlpool Corp., 2016 WL 5922456 at *6; 28 See Nat’l Rural Telecommc’ns., 221 F.R.D. at 527-28 (finding that the parties’

1 understanding of the factual and legal issues through completion of discovery
2 “strongly militates in favor of the [c]ourt’s approval of the settlement”); Sarkisov v.
3 StoneMor Partners L.P., No. 13-cv-04834 (JD), 2015 WL 5769621, at *3 (N.D. Cal.
4 Sept. 30, 2015) (finally approving settlement where “the discovery done in the case 5 was appropriate, and plaintiff’s counsel has detailed a sufficiently robust 6 investigation into class and liability issues.”). Thus, this factor also supports approval 7 of the settlement.

8 G. The Experience and Views of Counsel

9 The Parties are represented by counsel who investigated and considered their 10 own and the opposing parties’ positions and measured the terms of the settlement 11 against the risks of continued litigation. The Court noted that “[p]articularly given 12 the experience of Plaintiffs’ counsel in this action,” this factor weighed in favor of 13 preliminary approval, and similarly, this factor also weighs strongly in favor of final 14 approval as well. See Preliminary Approval Order, at p. 18.

15 As stated in Whirlpool Corp., and in language equally applicable here, at this 16 stage, [the parties’ counsel] “are most closely acquainted with the facts of the 17 underlying litigation...[and] are better positioned than courts to produce a settlement 18 that fairly reflects each party’s expected outcome in the litigation.” Whirlpool Corp., 19 2016 WL 5922456 at *7 (citing Nat’l Rural Telecommc’ns, 221 F.R.D. at 528). As 20 such, great weight should be accorded to Class Counsel’s judgment in recommending 21 this settlement for final approval. Id.; see also Rodriguez v. W. Pub’g Corp., 563 22 F.3d 948, 965 (9th Cir. 2009) (“This circuit has long deferred to the private 23 consensual decision of the parties.”).

24 H. The Presence of a Governmental Participant

25 There is no government participant in this case. Therefore, this factor is 26 inapplicable. See Wren v. RGIS Inventory Specialists, No. 06-cv-05778(JCS), 2011
27 WL 1230826, *10 (N.D. Cal. April 1, 2011), supplemented by 2011 WL 1838562 28

1 (N.D. Cal. 2011) (noting that lack of government entity involved in case rendered 2 this factor inapplicable to the analysis).

3 III. SETTLEMENT IS NOT A PRODUCT OF COLLUSION

4 “A settlement following sufficient discovery and genuine arms-length 5 negotiation is presumed fair,” because these conditions “suggest . . . that the Parties 6 arrived at a compromise based on a full understanding of the legal and factual issues 7 surrounding the case.” National Rural Telecommunications v. DIRECTV, 221 8 F.R.D. at 527-28 (C.D. Cal. 2004) (citations omitted). Here, there can be no question 9 that the Settlement was not a product of collusion, and instead was the result of hard-10 fought, arm’s length negotiation. In granting Preliminary Approval, the Court 11 carefully scrutinized the settlement and concluded that “the proposed settlement 12 appears to be the product of well-informed, arms-length negotiations, and the 13 proposed settlement lacks any overt or subtle signs of collusion.” See Preliminary 14 Approval Order, at p. 19 (citing Kim v. Allison, 8 F.4th 1170, 1179 (9th Cir. 2021)).

15 Furthermore, Settlement Special Master Patrick A. Juneau attended numerous 16 mediation sessions with the Parties. The assistance of an impartial mediator also 17 strongly suggests the absence of collusion. See, e.g., Morales v. Stevco, Inc., No.
18 1:09-cv-704, 2011 WL 5511767, at *11 (E.D. Cal. Nov. 10, 2011).

19 In addition, the settlement contains no reversionary clause and includes a 20 clause where any unawarded attorneys’ fees will be distributed to the Class through 21 the Settlement Fund QSF, meaning that all funds will be distributed to Class 22 Members, unless administratively unfeasible, in which case remaining amounts in 23 the QSF will go to an approved cy pres. See Settlement Agreement, Dkt. No. 219-2, 24 III.A.3.d (any “remaining funds in the Settlement Fund shall be distributed cy pres 25 to Texas A&M Transportation Institute with the Court’s approval”) and IX.C. This 26 further indicates a lack of collusion, supporting final approval. Betancourt v.
27 Advantage Hum. Resourcing, Inc., No. 14-cv-01788, 2015 WL 12661922, at *7 28 (N.D. Cal. Aug. 28, 2015). Simply put, “the risk of collusion among counsel is so

1 small that it is effectively non-existent.” Wade v. Kroger Co., No. 3:01CV-699-R, 2 2008 WL 4999171, at *3 (W.D. Ky. Nov. 20, 2008).

3 IV. THIS COURT SHOULD ISSUE A PERMANENT INJUNCTION

4 Assuming this Court finally approves the settlement, the Court should issue a 5 permanent injunction pursuant to the All Writs Act, 28 U.S.C. § 1651(a), and the 6 exceptions to the Anti-Injunction Act, 28 U.S.C. § 2283. The rights and interests of 7 the Class Members and the jurisdiction of this Court will be impaired if Class 8 Members who have not opted out of the Class proceed with other actions alleging 9 substantially similar claims to those asserted in this litigation and/or those claims that 10 are resolved and/or released pursuant to the Settlement Agreement. Numerous 11 federal courts in this circuit and elsewhere have recognized their power to enjoin 12 class members who did not opt out of a settlement from filing or continuing to 13 prosecute state court actions that would interfere with the implementation of a finally 14 approved class action settlement. See Ugas v. H&R Block Enterprises, LLC, No. 09-15 cv-06510 (CAS)(SHX), 2013 WL 12114094, at *1 (C.D. Cal. Nov. 18, 2013); 16 Guilbaud v. Sprint Nextel Corp., No. 13-cv-04357 (VC), 2016 WL 7826649, at *5 17 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 15, 2016); In re American Honda Motor Co., Inc. Dealership
18 Relations Litig., 315 F.3d 417, 441-42 (4th Cir. 2003); In re Diet Drugs, 282 F.3d
19 220, 235 (3d Cir. 2002); Williams v. General Electric Capital Auto Lease, Inc., 159 20 F.3d 266, 275 (7th Cir. 1998). The fact that Settlement Class Members have been 21 afforded an opportunity to opt out of the settlement justifies the issuance of an 22 injunction to aid the Court in its management of the settlement. See Ross v. Trex Co., 23 No. 09-cv-00670 (JSW), 2013 WL 791229 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 4, 2013).

24 Courts may issue a permanent injunction pursuant to the “necessary in aid of” 25 exception to the Anti-Injunction Act. 28 U.S.C. § 2283. This exception allows a 26 federal court to effectively prevent its jurisdiction over a settlement from being 27 undermined by pending parallel litigation in state courts. Hanlon, 150 F.3d at 1026 28 (“[A] federal court may intervene and enjoin state court proceedings in three narrow

1 circumstances, one of which includes when it is necessary to protect the court's 2 jurisdiction.”). In addition, another exception to the Anti-Injunction Act permits 3 courts to issue injunctions where it is necessary “to protect or effectuate [a court’s] 4 judgment[,],” such as where a court has finally approved a class action settlement.
5 McCormick v. American Equity Investment Life Insurance Co., 2016 WL 850821, *6
6 (C.D. Cal. Feb. 29, 2016); Rotandi v. Miles Indus. Ltd., No. 11-cv-02146 (EDL), 7 2014 WL 12642117, at *3 (N.D. Cal. Jan. 15, 2014) (enjoining all class members 8 who did not opt out from the settlement from “commencing or prosecuting any new 9 action, ... against the released party relating to or arising out of the subject matter of 10 the action” under the All Writs Act and the Anti-Injunction Act).

11 Furthermore, the All Writs Act also permits this Court to issue “all writs 12 necessary or appropriate in aid of [its] jurisdiction[.]” 28 U.S.C. § 1651(a). The All 13 Writs Act permits a federal district court to protect its jurisdiction by enjoining 14 parallel actions by class members that would interfere with the court’s ability to 15 oversee a class action settlement. See Hanlon, 150 F.3d at 1025; In re Linerboard 16 Antitrust Litig., 361 Fed. Appx. 392, 396 (3d Cir. 2010). The Court may issue an 17 injunction as soon as the litigation reaches the settlement stage in order to “effectuate 18 a final settlement.” See Hanlon, 150 F.3d at 1025. The present circumstances 19 warrant a permanent injunction in order to prevent those Settlement Class Members 20 who did not opt out of the settlement from interfering with the implementation of the 21 settlement and jeopardizing the rights and interests of the Settlement Class Members 22 and this Court’s jurisdiction. See, e.g., McCormick, 2016 WL 850821, *6.

23 CONCLUSION

24 In light of the arguments above, Toyota respectfully requests that the Court 25 enter an Order granting final approval, pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26 23(e), to the Parties’ proposed class action settlement and providing such other and 27 further relief as the Court deems reasonable and just.
